In partnership with YWCA's Stand Against Racism, Building Bridges, in collaboration with Grail Moviehouse, is excited to announce a special screening and post show discussion (facilitated by Building Bridges representatives Danae Aicher and Audrey Yatras) of The Blood is at the Doorstep.

This film premiered at SXSW '17 and received a critics pick from The Hollywood Reporter. The film intimately follows the family of Dontre Hamilton shortly after he is shot 14 times and killed by a Milwaukee police officer responding to a non-emergency wellness check (Dontre was diagnosed with paranoid schizophrenia). Filmed across three years, the film offers a painfully realistic glimpse inside a movement born out of tragedy and is an explosive look behind the scenes at one of America's most pressing social issues.

The YWCA's Stand Against Racism, in partnership with YWCA Associations nationwide, aims to build community among those who work for racial justice and to raise awareness about the negative impact of institutional and structural racism. This campaign is one part of our larger strategy to fulfill our mission of eliminating racism.

About Building Bridges

The mission of Building Bridges is to dismantle racism by fostering relationships that respect diversity, seek understanding and encourage action. We provide educational programming paired with a safe place to learn, reflect and discuss.

Since 1993, Building Bridges has profoundly impacted people and institutions throughout Western North Carolina. To date, more than 1500 participants have attended the program.
