Hey all,

the NC Justice Center is generously creating an individualized full day workshop for us around the subjects of federal, state, and local policy concerning food systems and hunger, as well as the intersectionalities of agriculture, economics, and equity. They will be providing the location, breakfast, lunch, and snacks, and will be facilitating the whole day. All we need to do is show up.

You are receiving this message, because we have identified you as an important stakeholder in the work of food systems, food justice, and food policy. If you are interested in attending please respond to this doodle poll by the end of the business day on Tuesday the 8th so that we can quickly identify which date to hold this event. And yay!!!
