We have done this in State College for maybe 20 years so I can't tell you how the switch was. It's an accepted practice now. Visitors will be your biggest problem, if you use technology where they can prove they paid, I would suggest having a policy that rescinds the violation if they can prove they paid.

Oh- And double the amount of signage you think you need.

Call me if you have any questions.

Subject: Head In Parking

Here at Lehigh we have begun to institute a "head in" only parking requirement and we are getting some static. Some complain that this is unsafe, cite studies to that effect; yet I have seen none. This is being done in anticipation of using LPR, and Pennsylvania vehicles only have rear plates. What do others do/think?
